More Wall Street Sorrow.
Gary and Mussolini.
John D.'s New Medal.
A Dear Little Dog.

MORE Wall Street agitation yesterday. Sixty-five more stocks found new low resting places.

Nothing is the matter with the country or with Wall Street. It was said yesterday that Mr. Durand, able automobile gentleman, was letting others have some of the stuff that he bought at low prices; in other words, "liquidating."

Nobody was hurt except the gamblers, and the whole world knows that the only way to discourage vice is to make it expensive.

Wall Street always makes gambling expensive, if you keep at it.

THE senate undoubtedly will confirm the debt arrangement with Italy, as it should do. The settlement was fair. Without Italy the victory of the Marne would have been impossible. Instead of collecting money from Germany now, the French and English might be carrying out the orders of Prussian princes transplanted from Berlin to Paris and London.

WHEN Judge Gary of the big steel company met Mussolini in Rome this conversation occurred:

"How did you come to Rome?"

"By train."

"Did you notice the Italian country side early this morning?"

"Yes, I was looking out of the window at daybreak."

"Did you see anybody?"

"Yes. The fields were covered with people, before sunrise, all working hard."

"That's it," said Mussolini; that's my idea of the welfare of Italy. Every body working."

Mussolini works, makes everybody else work, and out of the hard work Italy will send millions to us.

Nobody should object to that.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., will receive from the king of Spain a "ne plus ultra gold medal" struck to commemorate the flight of a Spanish airplane from Europe to South America. It is given to Mr. Rockefeller, who deserves it, for his work in fighting disease and establishing a great scientific institute.

THAT medal, a "royal decoration" worth having, is considerably better than the highest of all British decorations, which is the Order of the Garter, given in memory of a bon mot made by an English king when he picked up a garter dropped by some woman on a ballroom floor.

Some day, when this garter is handed to him, some Englishman will say, "No, thanks, I do not accept ladies' garters or any other ladies' garters."

Baseball Bat.

DOMESTIC CLASH

Mrs. Susie Sluka's
Shoulders, Neck and Face Cut.

UHRICHSVILLE, Mar. 27.—Hacked into unconsciousness with a meat cleaver in the hands of her husband, Mrs. Susie Sluka, 48, living west of here, lay in a Dennison hospital today at the point of death. The husband, Andrew Sluka, 50, was in the county jail at New Philadelphia pending the outcome of his wife's injuries. Physicians said today she had a slight chance for recovery.

Husband Intoxicated, Police Say.
A quarrel over money matters was said to have started the attack after Sluka came home intoxicated, police said.

The two sons of Mr. and Mrs. Sluka, John, 22, and Andrews, Jr., arrested after the authorities rushed to the Sluka home, were released at New Philadelphia today. John Sluka was taken into custody because he knocked his father unconscious with a baseball bat after the attack on his mother, according to Sheriff George W. Stucky.

Mrs. Sluka's shoulders, neck and face were badly cut by the clever wielded by her husband, according to her physicians.

Search Farm Lands for
Body of Clark Baker
After Wife Reports
Case to His Relatives.

By J. C. BANCROFT.

MANSFIELD, O., March 27.—"He may be found dead but he was not murdered," was the startling statement made today by a close friend of Mrs. Clark Baker, wife of the Mansfield dance hall proprietor, who has been missing from home since March 19.

An International News Service correspondent visited the Baker home, five miles north of the city, and found no one there except the man who made the above statement. Since Baker disappeared he has been taking care of the stock on the farm.

Sheriff Fred D. Sells again today made a trip to the Baker farm, a place of more than 200 acres and which is owned by Mrs. Baker, an inheritance from her father and mother.

If Baker, employed as a carpenter, and operating the country dance hall as a side line, left home voluntarily, why did he go away in his working clothes, leaving behind him two valuable watches, two diamond rings, two automobiles, and a thousand dollars on deposit in local banks? These are just a few of the questions which are worrying the local authorities and which remain unanswered to date.

The friend of Mrs. Baker, who is quoted above, asserts that there should

APRIL 23 DATE OF SPELLING BEE IN NEWELL

Panhandle District Contest in Wheeling on April 30.

PUPILS PREPARE

Ten Grant District
Schools Will be Represented.

Friday evening, April 23, today was definitely set as the date for the championship spelling bee to be held in the Newell high school building, when 10 schools in Grant district will compete.

Two representatives of the school zone will be chosen in this final to enter the upper Panhandle district competition to be held under auspices of The Wheeling News in the Market auditorium in Wheeling on Friday, April 30.

The Review Tribune will give cash prizes to the winners of the Newell final, arrangements for which are in charge of R. L. Hoke, principal of the Newell high school and superintendent of the Grant district schools.

Suggestions to Contestants.

Supt. Hoke today made the following suggestions to contestants:

First, read the sample lists of words carefully.

Second, have a member of the family or a friend pronounce the words while you spell and mark or write down the ones misspelled.

Third, study carefully the ones misspelled and have them pronounced again while you spell.

"By observing these simple suggestions," said Hoke, "one may learn to spell an exceedingly large number of words at a minimum of effort and time. If a word is particularly stubborn and unyielding, the contestant may find it necessary to write it out with pencil several times. Another good way to manage such a demon is to visualize carefully the position of each letter in the word."

Sample List of Words.

Here is the second sample list of words:

Pier, schedule, clean, efficient, different, series, vessels, obscurely, glimpses, local, market, permit, detect,
aroma, spice, pale, pile, serve, sailor,
maritime, particular, janitor, contrary,

THIRTY-TWO.

The search for a home continued until after evening shadows began to dance behind the footlights provided by Central City's "great white way."

After a succession of futile visits to every house that bore a "TO RENT" sign, they found themselves in Lincoln street, which had the facetious but appropriate appellation of "Valley of Loneliness" because of the number of boarding and rooming houses of the very ordinary sort located there. This was the abode of the familyless men who earned their bread and boozed booze in Noble Harbo's National Axle & Bearing Co. plant.

Eve surveyed the gloomy expanse of huge houses, depressing monuments to the expansive tastes of the gaudy Nineties, and remarked without enthusiasm: "I suppose there are many places down here."

"Yeah, but we don't want to live in any of them."

"We probably can afford a furnished apartment down here."

"Aw, we don't want to live down here. You know we couldn't invite people down here to see us. Why, they'd——"

"No," said Eve reprovingly. "Sensitive people don't expect young married couples to have much. . . . And you know as well as I do that most of them can't afford the grand scale they start out on."

"Oh, possibly not. But I don't want to live in Lincoln street. . . . We can afford one of these apartments on Madison. They're only——"

Eve momentarily lost patience with her husband. "Yes, they're ONLY! Only one hundred dollars, and that is more than we can afford. Why, you know we went along better streets in Chicago where apartments were advertised for less than that. . . . But I suppose Central City is the highest priced place in six states."

Clay ended the argument abruptly. "I'm tired. Let's go home. We can look tomorrow. That's when most rentable places are open to inspection anyway. We can go to an agent's place tomorrow, and have him ride around until we see something we like."

"Yes, for the Lord's sake, ride around. I'm nearly dead after this trip today."

Mother Wales greeted them questioningly on their return. Eve felt impelled to report, "We haven't found exactly what we want yet. We're going to look again tomorrow."

The elder woman did not directly reply. After considering Eve's words momentarily, she spoke to Clay: "Your pa is upstairs."

"He is!" Clay genuinely wanted to see his father.

Eve looked up eagerly. She was curious about Clay's father, whom she never had seen. She had been told that he was a big, red, rough fellow, a locomotive engineer, crude but kind; oppressed by his wife, but satisfied with his lot in life.

"I'll run up and see him," Clay said, striding toward the stairs. "You come up, Eve, when I whistle."

"Your pa is in his bath," Mrs. Wales announced firmly.

"Oh!" Clay turned back.

Eve smiled and retreated into the "parlor." From there, a moment later she heard Mrs. Wales addressing her son in low tones. She strained her ears to hear, but could not. Were they talking about her? She had an irresistible impulse to eavesdrop.

Moving swiftly and carefully around the room she settled down by a door upon the piano stool. She was not aware that this stool was placed almost directly in line with a mirror which permitted persons in the hall near the doorway to see what was going on in the room. She was so intent upon what was being said that she did not consider the possibility of being discovered. As a matter of fact she really didn't consider herself as doing anything wrong; didn't consider at all. Abruptly she realized that Mrs. Wales was watching her in the mirror. She flushed.

The conversation was broken off. Eve's heart pounded. Would Mrs. Wales consider her a snob? "Oh—but what could she say?"

Clay joined her, with, it seemed to Eve, a hurt expression.

The sudden appearance of Clay's father saved her from what might have been an embarrassing scene. "Ah-ha, my first and only daughter-in-law," he enthused, in his crude way. "Ain't it customary for father-in-law to welcome new daughters to the fold with a kiss?"

"It ought to be customary," said Eve warmly, going up to him. Henry Wales enjoyed the kiss. Men never get too old to appreciate a pretty woman.

Eve backed away feeling a slight repugnance. The odor of tobacco was strong upon the old man's breath, and mingled with it, she thought, was the smell of whisky.

Mrs. Wales was a good cook, but she had no imagination about menus, and the meal she served that evening was the conventional one of meat and potatoes and heavy dessert, with the usual trimmings. Eve was not particularly hungry, but she made a pretense of eating. Clay, she noticed, ate ravenously, as did his father. The latter began the meal with an effort toward the observation of the rules of etiquette about which the popular priced tomes on the subject grow hysterical, but soon subconsciously grew careless. When he had cleared his plate he looked up, clearing his closed mouth with his tongue, and after feasting his eyes upon Eve, said: "Well, are you young folks coming to live with us?"

Eve, startled and not knowing whether this was an invitation or a rebuke, glanced in confusion at Clay. "I don't think so, dad," said the latter. "We're looking around for a place."

"Be mighty glad to have you. Fine place to have young people around. Makes you feel young yourself." Mr. Wales smiled, being unaware at the moment of the burning look his wife was leveling.

Eve, watching Clay, was afraid that her husband wanted to stay. It would be an easy solution of their problem, but it was one she did not want to accept. She wanted a home of her own, if it was only a single room.

Big Tax Collection

The new revenue act, with its liberal reductions, promptly justifies itself. Income tax collections for the first quarter, due March 15, turn out to be larger than the treasury department expected.

This does not mean necessarily that the government will collect more than the estimated sum for the entire year, and leave a big surplus in the treasury. There may be special reasons for the present showing. An unusual number of people may have paid in full this time, because they found their total tax much smaller, instead of making only quarter payment as they used to do.

It need not surprise anyone, however, if the year's collections do run higher than the statisticians figured. Human nature enters largely into tax payments, and it is natural to make out tax returns more liberally, with less effort to figure exemptions or conceal income, when the government itself has dealt liberally with the taxpayers.

America Leads in The Air

After much lamentation regarding American backwardness in air development, here come some surprising facts.

Major Lester D. Gardner, editor of Aviation, who has been making a survey of American air activities, declares that this country led the world in commercial aviation during the past year.

Of the pilots and flying companies, 344 report that in 1925 they covered altogether 6,823,000 miles. This is three times the distance flown by the United States air mail, which got most of the publicity. It is eight times the total mileage of the British Imperial Airways.

Several hundred more pilots, still to be heard from, are expected to bring the year's total up to 10,000,000 miles.

Why, then, the general misunderstanding? The answer is that heretofore the extent of commercial air development in America has not been known because the commercial pilots have not been organized and are not obliged to report to anyone. This is the only country where flying is unregulated. It is also a very large country, in which hundreds of flyers attract little attention.

All this is good to know. And now that American leadership is already assured in the great field of air transportation opened up by American invention and enterprise, it should be easier to go ahead and make it far greater. Adequate regulation and organization are the next steps.

Butter And Eggs

It was natural that the butter and egg men should rise in revolt sooner or later. Herman Klingelhutz must have voiced the sentiment of hundreds of fellow-sufferers in his complaint made in filing suit against a certain actress for singing an uncomplimentary song, of such a nature that "his morals, integrity, character and intelligence have been assailed and ridiculed."

Mr. Klingelhutz, it should be understood, acts as agent for 18 butter and egg dealers in Minneapolis, and so obviously deserves the appellation, "big butter and egg man."

In the aforesaid song, he declares, the singer has used "certain tones and gestures to convey that all dealers in butter and eggs were men of immoral and licentious character, and thereby hold up plaintiff and others similarly situated to hatred, contempt and ridicule."

It can hardly have been quite so bad as that, but the tendency very likely was somewhat along that line. Frequenters of theatres and banquets will readily recognize the line.

Why put all the blame, though on one misguided actress, when writers and actors and after-dinner speakers all over the country have made jest of butter and egg folk for many years? Unless for publicity purposes, of course, the widespread publication of this protest, backed by the threat of damages, may lead many a scurrilous jester to repentant recognition of the real integrity and merits of men supplying big cities with their cargoes of dairy and poultry products.

Jokers had better "lay off" the sensitive butter and egg man for a while, and pick on somebody else. There are plenty of targets.

Tourists' Food

The secretary of the Ontario Tourist association has estimated from a number of expense accounts of United States automobile tourists what that tribe eats while it is across the border. In the course of a year the composite tourist giant consumes:

227 tons of butter; 493,000 dozen eggs; 2,956,550 quarts of milk; 98,554 bags of potatoes; 2,204 calves, 2,645 cattle 8,795 lambs; 1,763 hogs; 9,445 sheep.

In addition to that amazing list there should be added fowls, vegetables, grains for cereal foods and bread, and domestic fruit. The estimator left out coffee, tea and chocolate bars. Perhaps they are trifles in that huge total.

It is easy to see why the automobile tourist is welcome nearly everywhere when he pays his way honestly as he goes—and that is nearly always.

It seems to be an open question whether the Tacna-Arica affair is a foreign entanglement or a family row.

HASKIN'S LETTER
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The World's Worst Pests.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—What is nematode? Ask that question of the average citizen and he will probably answer that he doesn't know—that he has never met one. And yet he may be carrying several hundred thousand or even a few millions of the critters around with him—in his appendix, in his intestines, in his stomach, in his clothing, in the soil that clings to his boots, or in the vegetables he is taking home from market.

Ask the question of Dr. N. A. Cobb, a tall, slightly stooped, grey-haired, grey-moustached scientist in the department of agriculture, and he will smile patiently and reply that he really knows comparatively little about them, for he has only been studying them for a matter of thirty or forty years! But he will produce sundry and divers pamphlets and circulars that contain what impresses the layman as a vast amount of highly technical information on the subject.

And if you are interested and succeed in engaging his interest, Dr. Cobb will touch the high spots of a story that is as fascinating as it is bewildering. He will place a slide with a small drop of fluid under a powerful microscope and you will be able to observe the lively gyrations of a colorless, snake-like creature that appears to be of quite formidable proportions, but in reality is of microscopic size, less than one twenty-fifth of an inch in length and invisible to the naked eye. He will tell you that nemas range in size from that up to a length of two or possibly three feet.

He will show you colored drawings on a large scale of a nematode that resembles the fearsome dragon of fairy tales. He will exhibit an impressive array of jars containing plants that have been attacked by parasitical nemas. He will tell you that the beasts infest almost all forms of animal and plant life and all kinds of soil, that they constitute probably the worst pest in the world, that some of them are probably beneficial, that man is just learning how to combat those that are pests, and that the study of nemic spermatogenesis threatens to upset long accepted theories of heredity, if you know what that means.

Nemas That Eat Nemas.

Scientists are just discovering that there are nemas that feed on other nemas, somewhat like the fleas of which De Morgan wrote some two centuries ago—"Great fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em, and little fleas have lesser fleas, and so infinitum."

Fortunately these predatory nemas are harmless, while those they devour are among the worst of the parasites. Hence science may find it possible to marshal armies of the good nemas that will in time exterminate the hosts of bad nemas, or at least hold their ravages in check.

An interesting and highly important experiment in this connection is now being carried on in the California desert where date palms are grown. There is a gall nema that attacks the roots of these date palms, and that has threatened the maximum production of a new fruit crop in this country. Laboratory study demonstrated that there is a monochroa that feeds on the gall nemas, a single specimen having destroyed as many as 83 of the pests in a day. There are no other pests on the roots of the California date palms, and there is no other vegetation in the sand about the roots of the palms, so by introducing the monochroa there it will be possible in time to determine the value of the "dog eat dog" method of fighting the parasites.

Heretofore the only method of combating the pest nemas has been by rotating crops. Years ago the sugar beet crop of Europe was almost destroyed by nemas, but it was found that they could be held in check by planting the same ground to sugar beets only once every seven years. Crop rotation is impossible, however, in the case of fruit trees and it is impracticable in this country in the case of sugar beets, hence the importance of finding a new way of fighting the pests.

Abundance of Nematodes.

"Nematodes are extremely widespread," says Dr. Cobb, "and are to be found in most unexpected places. They are also inconceivably abundant. We little realize the enormous number in which these organisms exist all about us, wherever we go, by land or sea. A thimbleful of mud from the bottom of a river or ocean may contain hundreds of specimens. The nematodes from a 10-acre field, if arranged single file, would form a procession long enough to reach around the world. A lump of soil no larger than the end of one's thumb may contain hundreds, even thousands of nematodes and yet present few points that would distinguish it from a lump of soil destitute of these organisms."

"In short, if all the matter in the universe except the nematodes were swept away, our world would still be dimly recognizable, and if, as dislodged spirits, we could then investigate it, we should find its mountains, hills, vales, rivers, lakes and oceans represented by a film of nematodes. The location of towns would be decipherable, since for every massing of human beings there would be a corresponding massing of certain nematodes. Trees would still stand in ghostly rows representing our streets and highways. The location of the various plants and animals would still be decipherable, and, had we sufficient knowledge, in many cases even their species could be determined by an examination of their erstwhile parasites."

Dr. Cobb says that the nemas are the worst pests in the world because they attack almost all field crops except corn and wheat, all vegetables and almost all kinds of fruit trees, and that it is actually impossible to estimate the damage they do every year in the destruction or diminution of crops.

In addition, there are no less than 50 kinds of nematodes that are known to infest the human body and cause various diseases, such as hookworm and guinea worm, and act as carriers of other diseases such as cancer. Domesticated animals suffer in like manner, it being estimated that more than 80,000 nematode species infest the forty odd thousand species of vertebrates in the world. Trichina, for instance, which costs the civilized nations immense sums annually for the inspection of pork, is a nematode.

And in the study of nema scientists have one of their greatest thrills. They place an egg under a microscope magnifying 300 to 400 diameters, and in a few hours, under their very eyes, the egg becomes a living, actively moving animal—a baby nematode complete and ready to begin its active battle for existence.

"The observer rises at last," says Dr. Cobb, "feeling that he has indeed approached as near to the mystery of life as it is as yet given to man to approach."

There is the story of a show girl elevated to sudden affluence through a prosperous marriage. One of the brisk salesmen from Auto Row took a gaudy sample car around for her approval. She waved it away with disdain. Over night he had an idea. The next morning he installed a chauffeur and a footman in the front seat. They were resplendent in plum-colored uniforms. The salesman had them go around in the same car. The footman stood at the opened door with his fingers touching his cap. The show girl came out.

"This is the car for me," she said. And she bought it.

years apart. According to that schedule the next one is due about 1948. The difference between ancient days and the present time is that then people did not know how to protect themselves from the disease, and today they have the knowledge if they will practice it.

To avoid getting influenza it is highly essential that an individual avoid "catching" cold. The common, dangerous type of cold is the infectious type which is spread by a germ and it is the one which people should shun as much as possible.

JESUS CHRIST GOD-MAN, SAYS DR. J. B. KOEHNE

Clergyman Answers
Skeptics in Scriptural
Discussion.

SONG SERVICE

"Is There Death Bed Repentance?" Sunday
Evening Topic.

With outstanding coherence of logic, Jesus Christ was declared to be the God-man of whom Matthew, Mark, Luke and John wrote and of whom the prophets and patriarchs spoke and not the personage credited by skeptics to accident, civilization and mythology by Dr. John B. Koehne, London, N. H., clergyman, in the third of a series of fundamental scriptural discussions at the First Presbyterian church last evening. With rapt attention he was keenly listened to by the tri-congregation membership in attendance.

Announcement was made that the next appearance of Dr. Koehne would be on next Sunday evening when he would answer the query: "Is There a Death Bed Repentance?" This address of his, Dr. D. W. MacLeod, First Presbyterian pastor, asserted, is held by literary critics as a classic and one of the finest discourses in the English language. Reference was also made to that on "The Resurrection," which will be given on Easter Sunday.

In better voice and showing a constantly growing freshness of manner, Dr. Koehne was in fine form during his entire handling of a theme that indicated a wideness and thoroughness of study and a meeting with facts of all known and conjectured opposition to his advocacy of the Nazarene's right to stand as biblically revealed.

Prefacing his address by a personal reference, Dr. Koehne explained that he had entered the lecture field to prove to those so wishing, but not having the time to pursue studies in that direction, of the reasonableness of Christ. It was a statement of Joseph Stebbins, a banker parishioner of mine and father of Lincoln Stebbins, the literary man, following my query of him as to what people in the pews wanted to hear that caused me to prefec a series of sermons thereon. Nothing I ever preached had such an effect upon my congregation. Whereupon I resigned so that men and women of cultured minds elsewhere, too busy to read along these lines, should have the benefit of my investigations."

"Such a departure on my part is not without personal discomfort and loss. I am forced to forego friends, for it takes a life time to make a friend; I have many acquaintances, but they are not friends."

The fact is accordingly disclosed that the present series of discourses is one filled with trenchant truths for believers, which, once assimilated, will bulwark them for all time and go far in opening wider avenues in their Christian faith.

"Whom do men say that I am?" Christ's query to the disciples was not asked by Moses, returning from Sinai; by Saul, converted, Michael Angelo, emanating from his cloud of dust at work; President Coolidge, now that the chief executive rather than governor. No one but Jesus asked that question, declared the speaker.

"Skeptics are willing to have Christ eulogized by orators and acclaimed by poets. They even permit him to be exalted upon the Cross, but do not want Him taken from the tomb, they wish Him to remain dead.

"Accordingly they aver He was an accident, but nothing is accidental in this world. There is a law for everything, even earthquakes and cyclones, though we may not know them. Christ is a miracle greater than the Bible for we can not understand the Bible without Him."

Hits Notion of Skeptics.

Dr. Koehne likewise discredited the skeptical notion that civilization made Christ. "Same causes must produce same effects." If one genius such as Jesus was turned out by civilization where is His successor, for the law of genius demands that another succeeds Him. What genius said "Come unto Me" None. Civilization fails in not convicting men of sin. Supreme court judges, in their robes, are as wicked as we. Paul looked at Christ and immediately declared: "I am chief of sinners." The saint is a man conscious of sin. The good man is he who in secret confesses his shortcomings. People blame non-church attendances and appointments and the failure of social services (whatever that is) but the real reason is that men love darkness rather than light. They do not want to be rebuked for sin.

SOLONS MEET MONDAY NIGHT

May Act on Mayor's
Veto of Arbitration Ordinance.

Action on the ordinance outlining provisions for the arbitration by the city and Contractor A. W. Hinaman of the financial problems of the municipal water works system may be taken by council on Monday night at an adjourned meeting.

Hinaman, through Attorney Robinson, of Pittsburgh, submitted a tentative draft of provisions for working out the solution, specifying that the arbitration committee, if it so desired, could sit in Pittsburgh, and providing that the city furnish quarters for all sessions of the committee, light, heat and necessary attendants.

Council passed the measure but Mayor Fogo vetoed it, asserting that inasmuch as the water works contract was let in Wellsville and the construction itself was done in Wellsville everything pertaining to the system should be settled in Wellsville, and he could not agree to any provision which might allow the board to sit in Pittsburgh at the expense of the city, inasmuch as the city has adequate quarters of its own in the city hall building.

Mayor Fogo also objected to the choice of the city's arbitrator, Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

SCHOOL TEACHER TO GIVE ADDRESS

Forest Mohrly, Wheeling high school instructor, will speak at special services tonight and tomorrow in the Church of Christ, Seventeenth and Commerce streets.

His subject tonight will be taken from Matthew 22:42. The Sunday morning topic will be, "Forgiveness," and the evening subject, "Tokens of the Covenants."

Church officials have extended an invitation to public school teachers to attend.

MAYOR W. L. FOGO ILL WITH GRIPPE

Mayor W. L. Fogo is confined to his home in Broadway by illness.

For the last week and a half the city's chief executive has been suffering from a slight attack of grippe and in recent days has been unable to report at the city hall. He expects, however, to be able to get back to work again next week.

Mrs. Mary Benvento, 19, widow of Wellsville, and Jacob Bruno, 30, truck driver, residing in East Palestine, have been granted a marriage license at Lisbon. The couple will be wed in Wellsville.

DON'T OVERLOOK A GOOD THING

From Jas. Edwards, Montgomery, Ala., comes this letter containing a valuable suggestion.—"I feel like a new man since taking FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR. Can sleep all night, soreness in my chest is gone, so is the bad cough. My whole family use it for coughs, colds and croup, and it always helps." Stop tickling in throat, nervous hacking, and puts a soothing healing coating on a raw inflamed throat. Don't overlook FOLEY'S HONEY AND TAR.

1,500 CHATTEL MORTGAGES FILED

More than 1,500 automobile chattel mortgages have been filed for record with County Recorder Paul Smith since Jan. 1st, it was announced by Mr. Smith Saturday. This is a new high record.

This record also discloses the activity in the demand for automobiles in this county, although the mortgages filed have to do with the sale of both new and used cars.

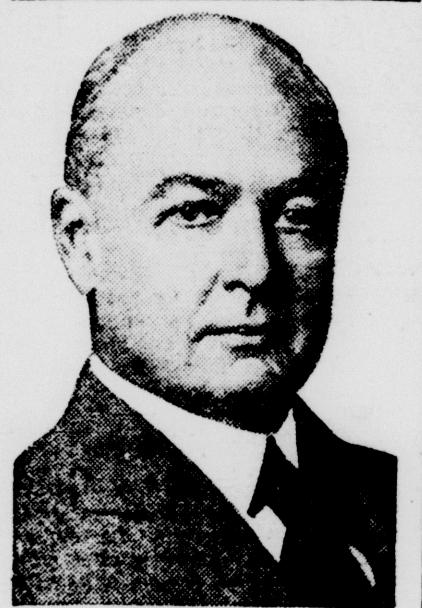

In making this new record in the filing of chattel mortgages for automobiles, the number of sale bills filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine is running about even with the chattel mortgage record.

Will Undo Much Evil
By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analysis and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "Anuric," which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from accumulated poisons in the blood.

"Anuric" is a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys and can be obtained at all drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and taking "Anuric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

If you desire a trial package, send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N.Y., and write for free advice.

1,500 CHATTEL MORTGAGES FILED

More than 1,500 automobile chattel mortgages have been filed for record with County Recorder Paul Smith since Jan. 1st, it was announced by Mr. Smith Saturday. This is a new high record.

This record also discloses the activity in the demand for automobiles in this county, although the mortgages filed have to do with the sale of both new and used cars.

In making this new record in the filing of chattel mortgages for automobiles, the number of sale bills filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine is running about even with the chattel mortgage record.

Will Undo Much Evil By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analysis and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "Anuric," which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney trouble, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from accumulated poisons in the blood.

"Anuric" is a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys and can be obtained at all drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and taking "Anuric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

If you desire a trial package, send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N.Y., and write for free advice.

HAMILTON BOSS SCORER OF HIGH FIVE

196 POINTS HIS SEASON'S TOTAL

Given Close Race by Tom Pusey Who Reaches 189 Mark.

CHIEF field goal maker up at the top in foul shooting in proportion to number of attempts, king pin of the whole gang in total points, all eastern Ohio tournament forward, and captain-elect of the 1926-27 high school basketball team! If anything has been left out of this list, please notify Jimmy Hamilton, it must belong to him for upon his youthful and none too robust shoulders rest all the aforementioned honors, according to statistics for the season announced today by Athletic Director O. V. Boone.

Of course, Jimmy, in achieving all these distinctions, was backed up by and given the assistance of a mighty fine crew of youths who worked under the tutelage of Coach H. T. Lorah for the past several months. Without the aid of Center "Teke" Bough's tip-off jabs, the cooperation of running mates Carl Wilson, Elmer English and Helme Deidrick, and the defense tactics of Larkins and Captain Tom Pusey, and during the first half of the campaign, Paul English, Hamilton's effectiveness might have been cut down.

Hamilton chalked up 196 points for the season, coming close to hitting the 200 mark. This he compiled from 82 field goals and 32 fouls in 59 attempts, better than a 2 to 1 ratio.

Next to Hamilton, Captain Pusey, guard, checked in with 189 markers. In achieving this record, Pusey collected 78 field goals and sank 33 fouls in 77 trials.

Carl Wilson, forward, was the only other member of the combine to pass the 100 mark in scoring. Wilson dropped in 51 field goals and 15 fouls in 32 chances for a total of 117 points.

English Keen Marksman.

Had Paul English continued as a member of the team during the last half of the season, all foul shooting records likely would have been shattered. English, in four games, dropped in 22 fouls in 28 chances, which isn't doing so terribly.

Hamilton was the only member of the squad to play in every game of the season—20. Pusey has 19 to his credit.

Of the 20 contests on the card, the team won 12 and lost eight. They compiled total points of 686, an average of 24.3 points a game. The opposition produced 525, and averaged 20.4 points.

PITT APPROVES TRANSFER RULE

Places Panther Eligibility Code on Par With Best.

PITTSBURGH, March 27.—Athletes who have ever competed on a varsity team at another institution will be barred from representing the University of Pittsburgh on a varsity or freshman squad after September 1, 1926, according to rule just passed by the local athletic council. This will not apply to students at present enrolled in the university. The exact wording of the new restriction is as follows:

"Any student who transfers from another college or university which grants degrees, and who has represented that institution in varsity athletics, shall be ineligible to compete in any branch of sport as a member of varsity or freshman team."

The transfer rule has been under consideration at the local university for some time, and its adoption places the Panther eligibility code on a par with any of the larger schools of the east and west. The one-year residence and the three-year competition rules have been in effect for the past 10 years.

Strib-Slattery go Sets Indoor Record

NEW YORK, March 27.—According to official figures, made public today, the fight between Young Stribling and Jimmy Slattery at Madison Square Garden on Thursday established a new world's attendance record for indoor boxing. A total of 13,225 fans saw the contest. Stribling received $18,662 of the total gate of $78,432.

A lot of good forwards, a few good centers, and a scarcity of first rate guards. This, in brief, sums up grade school teams which recently battled through their annual championship tournament.

Carmen, McConnell, Hall, Dearth and McConville, in the opinion of leading tourney scorer, Carmen and Dearth, with 51 and 27 points, respectively, are next in order. McConnell was fifth with 23, and McConville, who played in only one game, made eight. Altogether these youngsters scored 173 points.

Seals Asking Pitcher For Rhyne and Waner Instead of Infielder

Culloton and Sheehan, of Regular Staff, Only Flingers Open for Choice; Johnny Rawlings and Eddie Hock Mentioned as Only Other Acceptable Candidates for Trip West.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, March 27.—According to advices from San Francisco, arriving today, the Pittsburgh Pirates find themselves in the regular position of enjoying the daily society of Paul Waner and Hal Rhyne, human luxuries to the value of $65,000, without having paid for them, at least not in players-on-the-flat-foot. It isn't that the Pirates wish to take a hurried run-out on the transaction or that their money is all tied up in amalgamated eye shades. I presume their cash obligations on the deal have been met these many months.

Ever since the big deal was closed during the last world's series, they have been willing to play ball with the Seals on the proposition, but the other big league clubs refuse to stand by.

First, the Pirates tried to send Eddie Moore, second baseman, and Carson Bigbee, extra outfielder, to San Francisco. This afterward was denied by Barney Dreyfuss, but I seem to remember that his disclaimer came after several rival clubs declined to waive on the young men. For once, it appeared, the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" between major league club owners came to a test at a most unfortunate moment. Some hardened soul had just thrown the book of etiquette out the window and besides he had no time for fiction, anyhow.

Seals Alter Demands.

Whatever the answer may have been, Moore and Bigbee still are in the National league, and the former, judging from the demand for infielders, is likely to remain indefinitely.

The last word on the deal is that the Pirates will not make delivery until after the opening of the major league season, when ball clubs are disposed to view one another's moves with less suspicion. Meantime, the Seals seem to have altered the character of their needs. It is said that they have demanded a right hand pitcher from the Pirates and that the latter would have none of it. Aldridge, Kremer, Meadows, Morrison, Adams, Culloton and Sheehan are the right hands of consequence listed on the Pirate roster.

You can throw the first out of the deal without looking and Adams is a 10-year man; therefore, not open to argument. This leaves Sheehan and Culloton to play around with and you can take your choice, if any.

Crack Detroit and Dayton Fives Fail to Shake Pace Setters.

TOLEDO, O., March 27.—Five men teams will not have to roll any higher tonight than they did last night to get among the leaders in the quintet event of the American Bowling congress tournament here.

Crack fives from Detroit and Dayton failed to land in the ranks of the selects, though one outfit, the Gurney Chop House five, came close with a 2,897 for eleventh place. It might have gone into seventh place had not Smith, second man up, fouled as he picked up a spare in the last frame of the last game.

This team gained the honor of rolling second highest game of the tournament, it being a 1,092, this coming in the second attempt with all but one man in the double century class.

Mack Garments, of Detroit, ranked second high of the night with a 2,869 and high game of 1,025. Then came the turn of Dayton, the crack Wolff Tailors developing a 2,837 through a rise to the 1,000 class in the final.

Golden Glow of Dayton checked out with 2,824, Rudson Creamery of Detroit with 2,812 and Hudsons of Detroit, with 2,812 for the remaining big totals of the night.

BOWLING GREEN, O., March 27.—High school officials of northwestern Ohio met here today to discuss plans for a northwestern Ohio high school athletic association. The meeting was called by Temporary Chairman D. C. M. Bryant, of Bowling Green.

A meeting was held early in January this year and many schools agreed on tentative plans for formation of class A and class B athletic conferences. Such leagues would be formed to facilitate scheduling, agreements on officials, financing sports and cooperation.

A class A conference much like the Ohio conference has been suggested. All schools were invited, especially those at Fostoria, Kenton, Fremont, Tiffin, Defiance, Wauseon, Findlay, Lima South, Lima Central, Bryan and Bowling Green, which are eligible for a class A conference.

Needed at the Present Time

A new world has arisen, with new countries, new men, new ideals, and new problems. With a keen realization of this condition, and of the growing need for a practical encyclopedia for daily use, the publishers have made, and now offer, what they believe to be a most complete comprehensive, workable and up-to-date encyclopedia.

In the treatment of subjects, the editors have born in mind the practical use of the encyclopedia. It is a work to be consulted quickly and readily for every day use by the business man, the student, the housewife and the children. Everything in human history and activity, in science, art and literature has been treated fully with such conciseness that the substance can be absorbed rapidly and intelligently.

For school use it will be found invaluable for quick and accurate reference. While no subject of importance is omitted, particular stress has been laid upon those which are timely and which are in a line with modern human interest and development. All forms of scientific progress are given ample treatment.

The biographies of the men and women who have made and are making history will be found in these pages.

The maps, without which no encyclopedia can be complete, show in detail the new divisions and sub-divisions of territory resulting from the World War. The story of the war itself is told in a masterly narrative, complete yet concise.

The events and conditions following the war are elucidated fully and clearly. Not only under each country is the participation of that country in the war told, but under separate titles are described the great battles and events of the gigantic struggle.

The latest available statistics have been used, in connection with the description of all important cities and towns, and even towns of less importance possessing historical interest, have been included. The names of rivers, mountains, forest reserves, parks and other important natural features have been included. The editors believe that in this respect this encyclopedia is more complete than any ever published. The use of long tables which quickly lose their value and become obsolete have been avoided as much as possible.

The publishers and the editors confidently believe that the popular New Encyclopedia will be of the greatest possible value as a complete, concise and practical work of reference.

This newly compiled encyclopedia, carefully edited by acknowledged experts in science, art, history, and everyday knowledge of the past and the present, places all of the intelligence of the great universe within easy reach of those who read.

More Wall Street Sorrow.
Gary and Mussolini.
John D.'s New Medal.
A Dear Little Dog.

By ARTHUR BRISBANE
(The opinions expressed in this column are strictly those of Mr. Brisbane and not necessarily in consonance with the policies of The Review-Tribune.)

Copyright, 1926, by the Star Co.

MORE Wall Street agitation yesterday. Sixty-five more stocks found new low resting places.

Nothing is the matter with the country or with Wall Street. It was said yesterday that Mr. Durand, able automobile gentleman, was letting others have some of the stuff that he bought at low prices; in other words, "liquidating."

Nobody was hurt except the gamblers, and the whole world knows that the only way to discourage vice is to make it expensive.

Wall Street always makes gambling expensive, if you keep at it.

THE senate undoubtedly will confirm the debt arrangement with Italy, as it should do. The settlement was fair. Without Italy the victory of the Marne would have been impossible. Instead of collecting money from Germany now, the French and English might be carrying out the orders of Prussian princes transplanted from Berlin to Paris and London.

WHEN Judge Gary of the big steel company met Mussolini in Rome this conversation occurred:

"How did you come to Rome?"

"By train."

"Did you notice the Italian country-side, early this morning?"

"Yes, I was looking out of the window at daybreak."

"Did you see anybody?"

"Yes. The fields were covered with people, before sunrise, all working hard."

"That's it," said Mussolini; that's my idea of the welfare of Italy. Everybody working."

Mussolini works, makes everybody else work, and out of the hard work Italy will send millions to us.

Nobody should object to that.

JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER, JR., will receive from the king of Spain a "ne plus ultra gold medal," struck to commemorate the flight of a Spanish airplane from Europe to South America. It is given to Mr. Rockefeller, who deserves it, for his work in fighting disease and establishing a great scientific institute.

THAT medal, a "royal decoration" worth having, is considerably better than the highest of all British decorations, which is the Order of the Garter, given in memory of a son not made by an English king when he picked up a garber dropped by some woman on a ballroom floor.

Some day, when this garber is handed to him, some Englishman will say: "No, thanks, I do not accept ladies' garters or any other ladies' garters."

Police Warn Jokers Who Turn Off Light In Traffic Sign

Practical jokers, who have been turning off the electric light in the silent policeman, at the corner of Bradshaw avenue and Walnut street, will be prosecuted if they are apprehended, Chief of Police Hugh McDermott announced this morning.

The traffic sign cannot be seen at night unless it is illuminated, and we fear an accident if the practice is continued," the police department head said. "We intend to keep a watch on this corner and will arrest any person who is found to be playing with the light switch."

The traffic light at the corner of St. Clair avenue and Broadway which has been out of commission for several weeks as result of being struck by an unidentified driver, was repaired yesterday.

Search Farm Lands for Body of Clark Baker After Wife Reports Case to His Relatives.

By J. C. BANCROFT.

MANSFIELD, O., March 27.—"He may be found dead but he was not murdered," was the startling statement made today by a close friend of Mrs. Clark Baker, wife of the Mansfield dance hall proprietor, who has been missing from her home since March 10.

An International News Service correspondent visited the Baker home, five miles north of the city, and found no one there except the man who made the above statement. Since Baker disappeared he has been taking care of the stock on the farm.

Sheriff Fred D. Sells again today made a trip to the Baker farm, a place of more than 200 acres and which is owned by Mrs. Baker, an inheritance from her father and mother.

If Baker, employed as a carpenter, and operating the country dance hall as a side line, left home voluntarily, why did he go away in his working clothes, leaving behind him two valuable watches, two diamond rings, two automobiles and a thousand dollars on deposit in local banks? These are just a few of the questions which are worrying the local authorities and which remain unanswered to date.

The friend of Mrs. Baker, who is quoted above, asserts that there should

THIRTY-TWO.

The search for a home continued until after evening shadows began to dance behind the footlights provided by Central City's "great white way."

After a succession of futile visits to every house that bore a "TO RENT" sign, they found themselves in Lincoln street, which had the facetious but appropriate appellation of "Valley of Loneliness" because of the number of boarding and rooming houses of the very ordinary sort located there. This was the abode of the familyless men who earned their bread and bootleg booze in Noble Harwood's National Axe & Bearing Co. plant.

Eve surveyed the gloomy expanse of huge houses, depressing monuments to the expansive tastes of the gaudy Nineties, and remarked without enthusiasm: "I suppose there are many places down here."

"Yeah, but we don't want to live in any of them."

"We probably can afford a furnished apartment down here."

"Aw, we don't want to live down here. You know we couldn't invite people down here to see us. Why, they'd—"

"No," said Eve reprovingly. "Sensitive people don't expect young married couples have much. . . . And you know as well as I do that most of them can't afford the grand scale they start out on."

"Oh, possibly not. But I don't want to live in Lincoln street. . . . We can afford one of these apartments on Madison. They're only—"

Eve momentarily lost patience with her husband. "Yes, they're ONLY—ONLY! Only one hundred dollars, and that is more than we can afford. Why, you know we went along better streets in Chicago where apartments were advertised for less than that. But I suppose Central City is the highest priced place in six states."

Clay ended the argument abruptly. "I'm tired. Let's go home. We can look tomorrow. That's when most rentable places are open to inspection."

Eve backed away feeling a slight repugnance. The odor of tobacco was strong upon the old man's breath, and mingled with it, she thought, was the smell of whisky.

Mrs. Wales was a good cook, but she had no imagination about menus, and the meal she served that evening was the conventional one of meat and potatoes and heavy dessert, with the usual trimmings. Eve was not particularly hungry, but she made a pretense of eating. Clay, she noticed, ate ravenously, as did his father. The latter began the meal with an effort toward the observation of the rules of etiquette about which the popular priced tomes on the subject grow hysterical, but soon subconsciously grew careless. When he had cleared his plate he looked up, clearing his closed mouth with his tongue, and after feasting his eyes upon Eve, said: "Well, are you young folks coming to see us?"

The elder woman did not directly reply. After considering Eve's words momentarily, she spoke to Clay: "Your pa is upstairs."

"He is!" Clay genuinely wanted to see his father.

Eve looked up eagerly. She was curious about Clay's father, whom she never had seen. She had been told that he was a big, red, rough fellow, a locomotive engineer, crude but kind; oppressed by his wife, but satisfied with his lot in life.

"I'll run up and see him," Clay said, striding toward the stairs. "You come up, Eve, when I whistle."

"Your pa is in his bath," Mrs. Wales announced firmly.

"Oh!" Clay turned back.

Eve smiled and retreated into the "parlor." From there, a moment later she heard Mrs. Wales addressing her son in low tones. She strained her ears to hear, but could not. Were they talking about her? She had an irresistible impulse to eavesdrop. Moving swiftly and carefully around the room she settled down by a door upon the piano stool. She was not aware that this stool was placed almost directly in line with a mirror which permitted persons in the hall near the doorway to see what was going on in the room. She was so intent upon what was being said that she did not consider the possibility of being discovered. As a matter of fact she really didn't consider herself as doing anything wrong; didn't consider at all. Abruptly she realized that Mrs. Wales was watching her in the mirror. She flushed.

The conversation was broken off. Eve's heart pounded. Would Mrs. Wales consider her a snoop? "Oh—But what could she say?"

Clay joined her, with, it seemed to Eve, a hurt expression.

The sudden appearance of Clay's father saved her from what might have been an embarrassing scene. "Ah-ha, my first and only daughter-in-law," he enthused, in his crude way. "Ain't it customary for father-in-law to welcome new daughters to the fold with a kiss?"

"It ought to be customary," said Eve warmly, going up to him. Henry Wales enjoyed the kiss. Men never get too old to appreciate a pretty woman.

Big Tax Collection

The new revenue act, with its liberal reductions, promptly justifies itself. Income tax collections for the first quarter, due March 15, turn out to be larger than the treasury department expected.

This does not mean necessarily that the government will collect more than the estimated sum for the entire year, and leave a big surplus in the treasury. There may be special reasons for the present showing. An unusual number of people may have paid in full this time, because they found their total tax much smaller, instead of making only a quarter payment as they used to do.

It need not surprise anyone, however, if the year's collections do run higher than the statisticians figured. Human nature enters largely into tax payments, and it is natural to make out tax returns more liberally, with less effort to figure exemptions or conceal income, when the government itself has dealt liberally with the taxpayers.

America Leads in The Air

After much lamentation regarding American backwardness in air development, here come some surprising facts.

Major Lester D. Gardner, editor of Aviation, who has been making a survey of American air activities, declares that this country led the world in commercial aviation during the past year.

Of the pilots and flying companies, 344 report that in 1925 they covered altogether 6,823,000 miles. This is three times the distance flown by the United States air mail, which got most of the publicity. It is eight times the total mileage of the British Imperial Airways.

Several hundred more pilots, still to be heard from, are expected to bring the year's total up to 10,000,000 miles.

Why, then, the general misunderstanding? The answer is that heretofore the extent of commercial air development in America has not been known because the commercial pilots have not been organized and are not obliged to report to anyone. This is the only country where flying is unregulated. It is also a very large country, in which hundreds of flyers attract little attention.

All this is good to know. And now that American leadership is already assured in the great field of air transportation opened up by American invention and enterprise, it should be easier to go ahead and make it far greater. Adequate regulation and organization are the next steps.

Butter And Eggs

It was natural that the butter and egg men should rise in revolt sooner or later. Herman Klingelhutz must have voiced the sentiment of hundreds of fellow-sufferers in his complaint made in filing suit against a certain actress for singing an uncomplimentary song, of such a nature that "his morals, integrity, character and intelligence have been assailed and ridiculed."

Mr. Klingelhutz, it should be understood, acts as agent for 18 butter and egg dealers in Minneapolis, and so obviously deserves the appellation, "big butter and egg man."

In the aforesaid song, he declares, the singer has used "certain tones and gestures to convey that all dealers in butter and eggs were men of immoral and licentious character, and thereby hold up plaintiff and others similarly situated to hatred, contempt and ridicule."

It can hardly have been quite so bad as that, but the tendency very likely was somewhat along that line. Frequenters of theatres and banquets will readily recognize the line.

Why put all the blame, though on one misguided actress, when writers and actors and after-dinner speakers all over the country have made a jest of butter and egg folk for many years? Unless for publicity purposes, of course, the widespread publication of this protest, backed by the threat of damages, may lead many a surly jester to repentant recognition of the real integrity and merits of men supplying big cities with their cargoes of dairy and poultry products.

Jokers had better "lay off" the sensitive butter and egg man for a while, and pick on somebody else. There are plenty of targets.

Tourists' Food

The secretary of the Ontario Tourist association has estimated from a number of expense accounts of United States automobile tourists what that tribe eats while it is across the border. In the course of a year the composite tourist giant consumes:

227 tons of butter; 493,000 dozen eggs; 2,956,550 quarts of milk; 98,554 bags of potatoes; 2,204 calves, 2,645 cattle 8,795 lambs; 1,763 hogs; 9,445 sheep.

In addition to that amazing list there should be added fowls, vegetables, grains for cereal foods and bread, and domestic fruit. The estimator left out coffee, tea and chocolate bars. Perhaps they are trifles in that huge total.

It is easy to see why the automobile tourist is welcome nearly everywhere when he pays his way honestly as he goes—and that is nearly always.

It seems to be an open question whether the Tacna-Arica affair is a foreign entanglement or a family row.

Inflation is a state of mind in which people believe things are worth whatever they cost.

HASKIN'S LETTER

By FREDERIC J. HASKIN

The World's Worst Pests.

WASHINGTON, March 27.—What is a nematode? Ask that question of the average citizen and he will probably answer that he doesn't know—that he has never met one. And yet he may be carrying several hundred thousand or even a few millions of the critters around with him—in his appendix, in his intestines, in his stomach, in his clothing, in the soil that clings to his boots, or in the vegetables he is taking home from market.

Ask the question of Dr. N. A. Cobb, a tall, slightly stooped, grey-haired, grey-moustached scientist in the department of agriculture, and he will smile patiently and reply that he really knows comparatively little about nemas, for he has only been studying them for a matter of thirty or forty years! But he will produce sundry and divers pamphlets and circulars that contain what impresses the layman as a vast amount of highly technical information on the subject.

And if you are interested and succeed in engaging his interest Dr. Cobb will touch the high spots of a story that is as fascinating as it is bewildering. He will place a slide with a small drop of fluid under a powerful microscope and you will be able to observe the lively gyrations of a colorless, snake-like creature that appears to be of quite formidable proportions, but in reality is of microscopic size, less than twenty-five of an inch in length and invisible to the naked eye. He will tell you that nemas range in size from that up to a length of two or possibly three feet.

He will show you colored drawings on a large scale of a nematode that resembles the fearsome dragon of fairy tales. He will exhibit an impressive array of jars containing plants that have been attacked by parasitical nemas. He will tell you that the beasts infest almost all forms of animal and plant life and all kinds of soil, that they constitute probably the worst pest in the world, that some of them are probably beneficial, that man is just learning how to combat those that are pests, and that the study of nemic spermatogenesis threatens to upset long-accepted theories of heredity, if you know what that means.

Nemas That Eat Nemas.

Scientists are just discovering that there are nemas that feed on other nemas, somewhat like the fleas of which Dr. Morgan wrote some two centuries ago—"Great fleas have little fleas upon their backs to bite 'em and little fleas have lesser fleas, and so ad infinitum."

Fortunately these predatory nemas are harmless, while those they devour are among the worst of the parasites. Hence science may find it possible to marshal armies of the good nema that will in time exterminate the hosts of bad nemas, or at least hold their ravages in check.

An interesting and highly important experiment in this connection is now being carried on in the California desert where date palms are grown. There is a gall nema that attacks the roots of these date palms, and that has threatened the maximum production of a new fruit crop in this country. Laboratory study demonstrated that there is a monochon that feeds on the gall nema, a single specimen having destroyed as many as 83 of the pests in a day. There are no other pests on the roots of the California date palms, and there is no other vegetation in the sand about the roots of the palms, so by introducing the monochon there it will be possible in time to determine the value of the "dog eat dog" method of fighting the parasites.

Heretofore the only method of combating the pest nema has been by rotating crops. Years ago the sugar beet crop of Europe was almost destroyed by nemas, but it was found that they could be held in check by planting the same ground to sugar beets only once every seven years. Crop rotation is impossible, however, in the case of fruit trees, and it is impracticable in this country in the case of sugar beets, hence the importance of finding a new way of fighting the pests.

Abundance of Nematodes. "Nematodes are extremely widespread," says Dr. Cobb, "and are to be found in most unexpected places. They are also inconceivably abundant. We little realize the enormous number in which these organisms exist all about us, wherever we go, by land or sea. A thumbful of mud from the bottom of a river or ocean may contain hundreds of specimens."

The nema atomizes from a 10-acre field, if arranged single file, would form a procession long enough to reach around the world. A lump of soil no larger than the end of one's thumb may contain hundreds, even thousands of nematodes and yet present few points that would distinguish it from a lump of soil destitute of these organisms.

"In short, if all the matter in the universe except the nematodes were swept away, our world would still be dimly recognizable, and if, as disembodied spirits, we could then investigate it, we should find its mountains, hills, vales, rivers, lakes and oceans represented by a film of nematodes. The location of towns would be decipherable, since for every massing of human beings there would be a corresponding massing of certain nematodes. Trees would still stand in ghostly rows representing our streets and highways. The location of the various plants and animals would still be decipherable, and, had we sufficient knowledge, in many cases even their species could be determined by an examination of their erstwhile parasites."

Dr. Cobb says that the nemas are the worst pests in the world because they attack almost all field crops except corn and wheat, all vegetables, and almost all kinds of fruit trees, and that it is actually impossible to estimate the damage they do every year in the destruction or diminution of crops.

In addition, there are no less than 50 kinds of nematodes that are known to infest the human body and cause various diseases, such as hookworm and guinea worm, and act as carriers of other diseases such as cancer. Domesticated animals suffer in like manner. It is estimated that more than 80,000 nematode species infest the forty-odd thousand species of vertebrates in the world. Trichina, for instance, which costs the civilized nations immense sums annually for the inspection of pork, is a nematode.

And in the study of nemas scientists have one of their greatest thrills. They place an egg under a microscope magnifying 300 to 400 diameters, and in a few hours, under their very eyes, the egg becomes a living, actively moving animal—a baby nematode complete and ready to begin its active battle for existence.

"The observer rises at last," says Dr. Cobb, "feeling that he has indeed approached as near to the mystery of life as it is as yet given to man to approach."

NEW YORK DAYBYDAY

By O. O. MCINTYRE

NEW YORK March 27.—The call for a musical revue chorus is an illuminating light on the lure of the stage in Gotham. The other week a call for 40 girls brought 900 applicants. They came from fine homes and shops and some dropped trays and mops to respond.

While many applicants held serious ambitions for the stage, a larger number see in footlight glorification a step toward a chiffon career. The chorus is a magnet for those boudoirs who regard furnishing an apartment, limousine and dressmaking charge accounts as a mere gesture. They are the Broadway play boys who change ladies with the seasons.

Girls who look upon chorus work as incidental to a languorous life meet the usual disillusionment. It is a fleeting brief hour. Popularity fades with beauty. And then the quick drift to drab backwaters. Not one in a hundred sees the thorns beneath the roses.

Many think the Broadway pace exists merely in mawkish songs and highly colored fiction. During the past six months three prominent beauties—two of the screen and one of the stage—have come to tragic ends. Disipation rendered them quick prey to fatal maladies.

Not one had reached 25. One had left a hospital to give a cocktail party to fairweather friends. "Why this party when you're on the wagon?" one guest inquired. "Don't be ridiculous," she replied. "I'm sneaking a few when the nurse isn't looking." Three days later she was taken back to the hospital where she died in dreadful agony.

These are the girls who come from the prairie cottage and village street vibrant with life and girlish freshness. They launch upon what Broadway calls the "Hey! Hey!" life. It all seems so easy, and there appears to be plenty of time for domesticity when they reach the fat and fifty era.

There is the story of a show girl elevated to sudden affluence through a prosperous marriage. One of the brisk salesmen from Auto Row took a gaudy sample car around for her approval. She waved it away with disdain. Over night he had an idea. The next morning he installed a chauffeur and a footman in the front seat. They were resplendent in plum-colored uniforms. The salesman had them go around in the same car. The footman stood at the opened door with his fingers touching his cap. The show girl came out.

"This is the car for me," she said. "And she bought it."

buzzards a horse struggled vainly to reach its feet in the icy street near the Plaza fountain. The usual crowd collected. A small man wearing a tousled cap detached himself from the crowd and stood at the horse's head. "Get away! I'll get him up," he said. He had an authoritative manner. They fell back. He caught the animal by the nose, pulled gently and had it on its feet in a jiffy. He was a famous old-time jockey who shagged his shoulders and hurried on.

A theatrical producer has bought the rights to a startling invention which he intends to use in his next revue—if the police are not looking. It consists of special cloth material with a special kind of light ray. It will show the girls on the stage for some polite function like a tea party. The ray is turned on the girls and they instantly become stark naked, except in such spots as are covered with impenetrable cloth. The ray turned off, they are again instantly in perfectly decorous frocks. It will be the quickest undressing act on record.

Easy bosses are sometimes costly. A New York writer was engaged to write a weekly article for a magazine at a salary of $30,000 a year. MANY MILD FLU CASES IN STATE

Statement Issued by Health Department at Charleston.

Large number of influenza cases are being reported to the state health department at Charleston. The figures for this month are expected to exceed those for February.

Dr. J. G. Townsend, member of the influenza investigation committee of the United States public health service and director of rural sanitation has issued the following statement on the situation:

"Regardless of the fact that many of the present cases are mild, nevertheless influenza in any form is a serious ailment. The man who looks upon it as merely a 'bad' cold and does not place himself under medical care is running a serious risk."

"While comparatively few deaths are directly caused by influenza, the fact remains that many people do not entirely recover from its effects, and much of the population of hospitals and tuberculosis sanatoriums can trace their illness to the weakening influence of a previous attack of influenza."

"History teaches us that influenza has been a plague of mankind for many hundreds of years, and that widespread epidemics come about 30 years apart. According to that schedule the next one is due about 1948. The difference between ancient days and the present time is that then people did not know how to protect themselves from the disease, and today they have the knowledge if they will but practice it."

"To avoid getting influenza it is highly essential that an individual avoid 'catching' cold. The common, dangerous type of cold is the infectious type which is spread by a germ and it is the one which people should shun as much as possible."

JESUS CHRIST GOD-MAN, SAYS DR. J. B. KOEHNE

Clergyman Answers Skeptics in Scriptural Discussion.

SONG SERVICE

"Is There Death Bed Repentance?" Sunday Evening Topic.

With outstanding coherence of logic, Jesus Christ was declared to be the God-man of whom Matthew, Mark, Luke and John wrote and of whom the prophets and patriarchs spoke and not the personage credited by skeptics to accident, civilization and mythology by Dr. John B. Koehne, London, N. H., clergymen, in the third of a series of fundamental scriptural discussions at the First Presbyterian church last evening. With rapt attention he was keenly listened to by the tri-congregation membership in attendance.

Announcement was made that the next appearance of Dr. Koehne would be on next Sunday evening when he would answer the query: "Is There a Death Bed Repentance?" This address of his, Dr. D. W. MacLeod, First Presbyterian pastor, asserted, is held by literary critics as a classic and one of the finest discourses in the English language. Reference was also made to that on "The Resurrection," which will be given on Easter Sunday.

In better voice and showing a constantly growing freshness of manner, Dr. Koehne was in fine form during his entire handling of a theme that indicated a wideness and thoroughness of study and a meeting with facts of all known and conjectured opposition to his advocacy of the Nazarene's right to stand as biblically revealed.

Prefacing his address by a personal reference, Dr. Koehne explained that he had entered the lecture field to prove to those so wishing, but not having the time to pursue studies in that direction, of the reasonableness of Christ. "It was a statement of Joseph Stebbins, a banker parishes of mine and father of Lincoln Stebbins, the literary man, following my query of him as to what people in the pews wanted to hear that caused me to preface a series of sermons thereon. Nothing I ever preached had such an effect upon my congregation. Whereupon I resigned so that men and women of cultured minds elsewhere, too busy to read along these lines, should have the benefit of my investigations."

"Such a departure on my part is not without personal discomfort and loss. I am forced to forego friends, for it takes a life time to make a friend; I have many acquaintances, but they are not friends."

The fact is accordingly disclosed that the present series of discourses is one filled with trenchant truths for believers, which, once assimilated, will bulwark them for all time and go far in opening wider avenues in their Christian faith.

"Whom do men say that I am?"

Christ's query to the disciples was not asked by Moses, returning from Sinai; by Saul, converted, Michael Angelo, emanating from his cloud of dust at work; President Coolidge, now that the chief executive rather than governor. No one but Jesus asked that question, declared the speaker.

"Skeptics are willing to have Christ ennobled by orators and acclaimed by poets. They even permit him to be exalted upon the Cross, but they do not want him taken from the tomb, they wish him to remain dead."

"Accordingly they aver he was an accident, but nothing is accidental in this world. There is a law for everything, even earthquakes and cyclones, though we may not know them. Christ is a miracle greater than the Bible for we can not understand the Bible without him."

Hints on Skepticism.

Dr. Koehne likewise discredited the skeptic notion that civilization made Christ. "Same causes must produce same effects." If one genius such as Jesus was turned out by civilization where is his successor, for the law of genius demands that another succeeds him. What genius said "Come unto Me"? None. Civilization fails in not convicting men of sin. Supreme court judges in their robes, are as wicked as we. Paul looked at Christ and immediately declared: "I am chief of sinners." The saint is a man conscious of sin. The good man is he who in secret confesses his shortcomings. People blame non-church attendance to minister's lack of fine structures and appointments and the failure of social services (whatever that is) but the real reason is that men love darkness rather than light. They do not want to be rebuked for sin.

Here Dr. Koehne pictured a composite man made of the best in their lines in all the world and comprising such personages as Buddha, Confucius, Moses, Caesar, Plato, Shakespeare, Napoleon, Beethoven, Michael Angelo, Luther, Calvin, Wesley, Washington, Roosevelt, Wilson, Rockefeller and Edison. And of these combined in one could not say "I am from above, ye are from men."

From Strouse's "Life of Jesus," a book for German scholars, came the idea that Jesus was a myth, Dr. Koehne averred.

"If Jesus was a myth, who created the myth?" he asked. "If as the reply is that Church did, who created the Church?" Strouse went to an atheist's grave failing to answer.

"To say that the church created Christ is to say that Niagara Falls created the lakes. An effect cannot create its own cause. Well one might say the child created its father."

"Honest men will not allow doubts to get hold of them. An African gorilla will not challenge a boa constrictor to battle. Doubt is the boa constrictor about one's neck. It begins with the denial of the virgin birth. Universalists and Unitarians are enmeshed in these."

Dr. Koehne told of a Unitarian minister admitting his church's denial of the inspiration of the Scriptures, the cross and the resurrection.

"And who do you then preach about?"

"My philosophy of life—to live now," was the Unitarian's reply.

"Do you never worry regarding the possibility that your philosophy is wrong and the Bible right?" that you are leading your hearers astray?" finally queried Dr. Koehne.

His facial expression indicated the admission that followed.

Before the speaking by Dr. Koehne Oliver Johnson directed the song service which was featured by a solo by Vincent Meakin.

SOLONS MEET MONDAY NIGHT

May Act on Mayor's Veto of Arbitration Ordinance.

Action on the ordinance outlining provisions for the arbitration by the city and contractor A. W. Hinaman of the financial problems of the municipal water works system may be taken by council on Monday night at an adjourned meeting.

Hinaman, through Attorney Robinson, of Pittsburgh, submitted a tentative draft of provisions for working out the solution, specifying that the arbitration committee, if it so desired, could sit in Pittsburgh, and providing that the city furnish quarters for all sessions of the committee, light, heat and necessary attendants.

Council passed the measure but Mayor Fogo vetoed it, asserting that inasmuch as the water works contract was let in Wellsville and the construction itself was done in Wellsville everything pertaining to the system should be settled in Wellsville, and he could not agree to any provision which might allow the board to sit in Pittsburgh at the expense of the city, inasmuch as the city has adequate quarters of its own in the city hall building.

Mayor Fogo also objected to the choice of the city's arbitrator, Attorney W. A. O'Grady.

1,500 CHATTEL MORTGAGES FILED

More than 1,500 automobile chattel mortgages have been filed for record with County Recorder Paul Smith since Jan. 1st, it was announced by Mr. Smith Saturday. This is a new high record.

This record also discloses the activity in the demand for automobiles in this county, although the mortgages filed have to do with the sale of both new and used cars.

In making this new record in the filing of chattel mortgages for automobiles, the number of sale bills filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine is running about even with the chattel mortgage record.

Will Undo Much Evil
By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analysis and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "Anuric," which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from accumulated poisons in the blood.

"Anuric" is a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys and can be obtained at all drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and taking "Anuric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

If you desire a trial package, send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N.Y. and write for free advice.

NIMBLE IN TRAFFIC EASY TO PARK

You drive in the tightest traffic without the least concern, so promptly does your Oldsmobile answer to accelerator, wheel or brake. Parking troubles vanish, thanks to its steering ease.

Equal enjoyment is found in its perfect control and easy handling—highlights of that performance which is so widely praised.

There is no truer luxury than the ability to drive as you please, where you please... and this you discover at the wheel of Oldsmobile.

Government tax reduction of two per cent allowed to all Oldsmobiles from February twenty-seventh to March twenty-eighth inclusive.

1,500 CHATTEL MORTGAGES FILED

More than 1,500 automobile chattel mortgages have been filed for record with County Recorder Paul Smith since Jan. 1st, it was announced by Mr. Smith Saturday. This is a new high record.

This record also discloses the activity in the demand for automobiles in this county, although the mortgages filed have to do with the sale of both new and used cars.

In making this new record in the filing of chattel mortgages for automobiles, the number of sale bills filed with Clerk of Courts Frank Ballantine is running about even with the chattel mortgage record.

Will Undo Much Evil By Dr. V. M. Pierce

Knowing the vast amount of harm wrought by diseases of the kidneys, and having had opportunity to observe the analysis and the successful methods of treatment in thousands of cases of kidney trouble at the Invalids' Hotel, I have recently given to the public the latest and perhaps most important of the Dr. Pierce home remedies, "Anuric," which I now recommend to those who suffer with kidney backache, irregularity of urination and the pains and disturbances that come from accumulated poisons in the blood.

"Anuric" is a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys and can be obtained at all drug stores. The mere drinking of a cup of hot water each morning and taking "Anuric" before every meal should bring remarkably quick improvement. You may have kidney trouble and not know it. The danger signals to be quickly heeded are backache, depression, aches, pains, heaviness, drowsiness, dizziness, irritability, headaches, chilliness, rheumatic twinges, swollen joints, gout.

If you desire a trial package, send 10c to Dr. Pierce's Clinic in Buffalo, N. Y., and write for free advice.

Mrs. William Wagenhouser and Mrs. Charles Templeton were Youngstown shoppers Wednesday. Mrs. John Peppel and grandson, Russell Fronk, were recent guests of the former son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Arch Peppel and Mr. and Mrs. Russell Peppel, Lisbon.

The Woman's Missionary society of St. Paul's Lutheran church held a covered dish dinner on Friday in the chapel, at which time a mission study book, "Looking Ahead With Latin-America," was discussed.

NEW... yet three years old

In the sense that it combines elements of stamina, size, beauty and power heretofore undreamed of at its price, the Pontiac Six is an entirely new car. Yet more than three years have passed since General Motors set out to develop a Six of such high quality and low price as to gain immediate leadership.

During those years, the Pontiac Six was not only designed, refined and developed, but also subjected to such brutal and unremitting tests under every conceivable driving condition as to warrant, without reservation, the following statement:

No new car ever came to the public so maturely engineered—or more clearly meriting such universal admiration as is now being accorded this new General Motors Six.

HAMILTON BOSS SCORER OF HIGH FIVE

196 POINTS HIS SEASON'S TOTAL

Given Close Race by Tom Pusey Who Reaches 189 Mark.

CHIEF field goal maker up at the top in foul shooting in proportion to number of attempts, king pin of the whole gang in total points, all eastern Ohio tournament forward, and captain-elect of the 1926-27 high school basketball team!

If anything has been left out of this list, please notify Jimmy Hamilton, it must belong to him for upon his youthful and none too robust shoulders rest all the aforementioned honors, according to statistics for the season announced today by Athletic Director O. V. Boone.

Of course, Jimmy, in achieving all these distinctions, was backed up by and given the assistance of a mighty fine crew of youths who worked under the tutelage of Coach H. T. Lorah for the past several months. Without the aid of Center "Teke" Boug's tip-off jabs, the cooperation of running mates Carl Wilson, Elmer English and Helme Deidrick, and the defense tactics of Larkins and Captain Tom Pusey, and during the first half of the campaign, Paul English, Hamilton's effectiveness might have been cut down.

Hamilton chalked up 196 points for the season, coming close to hitting the 200 mark. This he compiled from 82 field goals and 32 fouls in 59 attempts, better than a 2 to 1 ratio.

Next to Hamilton, Captain Pusey, guard, checked in with 189 markers. In achieving this record, Pusey collected 78 field goals and sank 33 fouls in 77 trials.

Carl Wilson, forward, was the only other member of the combine to pass the 100 mark in scoring. Wilson dropped in 51 field goals and 15 fouls in 32 chances for a total of 117 points.

Enough Keen Marksman. Had Paul English continued as a member of the team during the last half of the season, all foul shooting records likely would have been shattered. English, in four games, dropped in 22 fouls in 28 chances, which isn't doing so terribly.

Hamilton was the only member of the squad to play in every game of the season—20. Pusey has 19 to his credit.

Of the 20 contests on the card, the team won 12 and lost eight. They compiled total points of 686, an average of 24.3 points a game. The opposition produced 525, and averaged 26.4 points.

PITT APPROVES TRANSFER RULE

Places Panther Eligibility Code on Par With Best.

PITTSBURGH, March 27.—Athletes who have ever competed on a varsity team at another institution will be barred from representing the University of Pittsburgh on a varsity or freshman squad after September 1, 1926, according to a rule just passed by the local athletic council. This will not apply to students at present enrolled in the university. The exact wording of the new restriction is as follows:

"Any student who transfers from another college or university which grants degrees, and who has represented that institution in varsity athletics, shall be ineligible to compete in any branch of sport as a member of varsity or freshman team."

The transfer rule has been under consideration at the local university for some time, and its adoption places the Panther eligibility code on a par with any of the larger schools of the east and west. The one-year residence and the three-year composition rules have been in effect for the past 10 years.

Strib-Slattery go Sets Indoor Record

NEW YORK, March 27.—According to official figures, made public today, the fight between Young Stribling and Jimmy Slattery at Madison Square Garden on Thursday established a new world's attendance record for indoor boxing. Seals Asking Pitcher For Rhyne and Waner Instead of Infielder

Culloton and Sheehan, of Regular Staff, Only Flingers Open for Choice; Johnny Rawlings and Eddie Hock Mentioned as Only Other Acceptable Candidates for Trip West.

By DAVIS J. WALSH.

NEW YORK, March 27.—According to advices from San Francisco, arriving today, the Pittsburgh Pirates find themselves in the regular position of enjoying the daily society of Paul Waner and Hal Rhyne, human luxuries to the value of $95,000, without having paid for them, at least not in players-on-the-flat-foot. It isn't that the Pirates wish to take a hurried run-out on the transaction or that their money is all tied up in amalgamated eye shades. I presume their cash obligations on the deal have been met these many months.

Ever since the big deal was closed during the last world's series, they have been willing to play ball with the Seals on the proposition, but the other big league clubs refuse to stand hitched.

First, the Pirates tried to send Eddie Moore, second baseman, and Carson Bigbee, extra outfielder, to San Francisco. This afterward was denied by Barney Dreyfuss, but I seem to remember that his disclaimer came after several rival clubs declined to waive on the young men. For once, it appeared, the so-called "gentlemen's agreement" between major league club owners came to a test at a most unfortunate moment. Some hardened soul had just thrown the book of etiquette out the window and besides he had no time for fiction, anyhow.

Seals Alter Demands.

Whatever the answer may have been, Moore and Bigbee still are in the National league, and the former, judging from the demand for infielders, is likely to remain indefinitely.

The last word on the deal is that the Pirates will not make delivery until after the opening of the major league season, when ball clubs are disposed to view one another's moves with less suspicion.

Meantime, the Seals seem to have altered the character of their needs.

It is said that they have demanded a right hand pitcher from the Pirates and that the latter would have none of it. Aldridge, Kremer, Meadows,

Morrison, Adams, Culloton and Sheehan are the right handers of consequence listed on the Pirate roster.

You can throw the first out of the deal without looking and Adams is a

10-year man; therefore, not open to argument. This leaves Sheehan and Culloton to play around with and you can take your choice, if any.

A. B. C. LEADERS HOLD PLACES

Crack Detroit and Dayton Fives Fail to Shake Pace Setters.

TOLEDO, O., March 27.—Five men will not have to roll any higher tonight than they did last night to get among the leaders in the quintet event of the American Bowling congress tournament here.

Crack fives from Detroit and Dayton failed to land in the ranks of the selects, though one outfit, the Gurney Chop House five, came close with a 2,897 for eleventh place. It might have gone into seventh place had not Smith, second man up, fouled as he picked up a spare in the last frame of the last game.

This team gained the honor of rolling second highest game of the tournament, it being a 1,092, this coming in the second attempt with all but one man in the double century class.

Mack Garments, of Detroit, ranked second high of the night with a 2,860 and high game of 1,025. Then came the turn of Dayton, the crack Wolff Tailors developing a 2,837 through a rise to the 1,000 class in the final.

Golden Glow of Dayton checked out with 2,824, Risdon Creamery of Detroit with 2,818 and Hudsons of Detroit, with 2,812 for the remaining big totals of the night.

Tonight teams from Chicago, Milwaukee, Detroit, St. Paul, Cincinnati, Rochester, St. Louis, Dallas, Zanesville and Columbus will occupy the drives, with the usual doubles and singles rolling throughout the day.

Schools Organize to Promote Sport

BOWLING GREEN, O., March 27.—High school officials of northwestern Ohio met here today to discuss plans for a northwestern Ohio high school athletic association. The meeting was called by Temporary Chairman D. C. M. Bryant, of Bowling Green.

A meeting was held early in January this year and many schools agreed on tentative plans for formation of class A and class B athletic conferences. Such leagues would be formed to facilitate scheduling, agreements on officials, financing sports and co-operation.

A class A conference much like the Ohio conference has been suggested. All schools were invited, especially those at Fostoria, Kenton, Fremont, Tiffin, Defiance, Wauseon, Findlay, Lima South, Lima Central, Bryan and Bowling Green, which are eligible for a class A conference.

Needed at the Present Time

A new world has arisen, with new countries, new men, new ideals, and new problems. With a keen realization of this condition, and of the growing need for a practical encyclopedia for daily use, the publishers have made, and now offer, what they believe to be a most complete comprehensive, workable and up-to-date encyclopedia.

In the treatment of subjects, the editors have born in mind the practical use of the encyclopedia. It is a work to be consulted quickly and readily for every day use by the business man, the student, the housewife and the children. Everything in human history and activity, in science, art and literature has been treated fully with such conciseness that the substance can be absorbed rapidly and intelligently.

For school use it will be found invaluable for quick and accurate reference. While no subject of importance is omitted, particular stress has been laid upon those which are timely and which are in a line with modern human interest and development. All forms of scientific progress are given ample treatment.

The biographies of the men and women who have made and are making history will be found in these pages.

The maps, without which no encyclopedia can be complete, show in detail the new divisions and sub-divisions of territory resulting from the World War. The story of the war itself is told in a masterly narrative, complete yet concise.

The events and conditions following the war are elucidated fully and clearly. Not only under each country is the participation of that country in the war told, but under separate titles are described the great battles and events of the gigantic struggle.

The latest available statistics have been used, in connection with the description of all important cities and towns, and even towns of less importance possessing historical interest, have been included. The names of rivers, mountains, forest reserves, parks and other important natural features have been included. The editors believe that in this respect this encyclopedia is more complete than any ever published. The use of long tables which quickly lose their value and become obsolete have been avoided as much as possible.

The publishers and the editors confidently believe that the popular New Encyclopedia will be of the greatest possible value as a complete, concise and practical work of reference.

This newly compiled encyclopedia, carefully edited by acknowledged experts in science, art, history, and everyday knowledge of the past and the present, places all of the intelligence of the great universe within easy reach of those who read.
